

Sofia: Good morning Lincoln! This is Channel K6 News and I'm Sofia. This morning we have a report from our roving reporter, Joanie. What do you have to report this morning?

Joanie: Well, Sofia, I've been checking things out in the cafeteria here at school for the last few days and I have found out several things.

Sofia: What do you mean? Are they changing the menu? Are they going to serve pop or something?

Joanie: Oh no, nothing like that. I have noticed that Lincoln students are using hand sanitizer before they go in for lunch and that they pick up their milk before they get in line.

Sofia: Oh, I see, that's great. Now, do the students wait quietly in line and keep their hands to themselves?

Joanie: Do you mean Line Basics in the cafeteria line? Yes, the kids are doing a pretty good job with that.

Sofia: How do they treat the cooks?

Joanie: I've noticed that some kids say "Thank you" when they get their tray, but that could still use work. I'm impressed that most kids know their lunch code and can type it in really well.

Sofia: But wait! Before they type in their code don't the students need to pick up a napkin and silverware and things like ketchup?

Joanie: You are right! I forgot that! The students need to remember to always get that napkin and silverware and whatever else they need BEFORE they punch in their code.

Sofia: OK, now how do things look at the tables?

Joanie: Well, the kids need to remember to use a quiet voice when they are visiting at the table and to keep their area neat and clean. When they need something, the students need to raise their hand and be respectful when they ask a grown up for something. Oh, and don't forget – Keep your hands off others' trays.

Sofia: Right and how about the garbage area, everything from the trays goes in the garbage right?

Joanie: Well, the kids need to remember to pour out their milk in the bucket and then dump everything in the garbage.

Sofia: Got it. Anything else to report?

Joanie: Yes, the kids need to do Line Basics again when they are leaving the cafeteria. I know they are excited about recess, but those Line Basics are a must!

Sofia: Excellent report! Thank you, Joanie. This is Channel K6 News.
